The Wonderful World of Salmon ...

Kingfisher Interpretive Centre is outdoor discovery that will foster your sense of stewardship and respect for the environment, while providing a whole lot of family fun.

The centre, located 25 km east of Enderby along Mabel Lake Road on the bank of the Shuswap River, is the place to learn about the salmon lifecycle, fishing, the Shuswap River and local biodiversity. The community-run, centre is situated amongst 10 acres of a cedar-hemlock rainforest and is surrounded by riverside trails to explore.

For decades, the salmon hatchery and living classroom has hosted thousands of school children teaching them about the importance of salmon, watershed protection and restoration while encouraging participation in various activities and events. Hatchery tours are available to everybody. Be sure to also visit the on location traditional First Nations' full-sized kekuli dwelling.

Every October during the Thanksgiving weekend, the centre hosts a salmon egg take. The public is encouraged to participate in the fun that will see the collection of salmon milt and eggs to produce some of next year's salmon.

River Exploration and Adventure ...

The Shuswap River, flowing west from Mabel to Mara Lake, and running through the centre of Enderby, is a pristine feature of the area not to be missed, especially on a hot summer day. The beautiful and inviting waters beckon those who enjoy nature or adventure. The waters offer calmer sections for tube floating or paddling while thrill seekers will enjoy the challenge of the Skookumchuk Rapids. Swimming and fishing opportunities are found all along the river, while water and nature lovers will spot dozens of bird species including eagles, blue herons and swans. The beautiful, white sandy beach, picnic area and playground at Tuey Park (Waterwheel) entice all to enjoy the fresh, clear waters while sipping a cold drink under the shade of a tree. Tuey Park can be accessed by water or land.

Most popular tubing route

It's recommended to start with the slower and shortest tubing route.

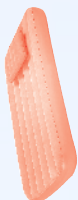

Belvidere Park to Tuey Park (Waterwheel) will provide about an hour and a half float time. If that's too long, you can disembark at the boat launch north of the Riverside RV Park. Life jackets are required, and floating times will vary depending on the time of year and type of watercraft used. River access points provide easy entry and exit, and offer restrooms, garbage cans and parking.

River Ambassadors...

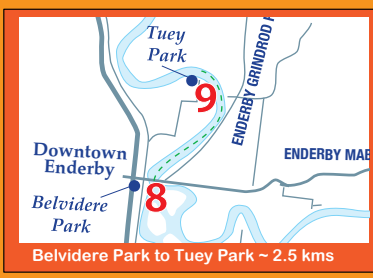

During the summer months, Shuswap River Ambassadors are present along the river, at boat launches and in parks to provide information on how the river can be used and enjoyed safely and responsibly. River safety and environmental stewardship are also part of the ambassadors' mandate as the waters are ecologically and culturally important to the area.

The Enderby & District Museum offers countless stories, amazing artifacts and interesting tours showing the area's 100+ years of history. Visitors are welcomed to the museum year round to experience and see the creative displays of tools, household items, machinery, photographs and a timeless homestead of the 1930s. The museum's collections are vast. There is even an off-site display of larger artifacts in Barnes Park. To further take in the area's history, why not take the self-guided walking tour? The walk about showcases heritage homes, commercial buildings and churches. Interpretive maps are available at the museum and Visitor Centre.

If you want to take a bit of the area's history home with you, there are a number of special items available to purchase at the museum including cards and books.

Splatsin Tradition

The Splatsin people of the Secwepemc Nation have occupied their traditional territory in the Shuswap region for thousands of years. Here, you will find deep roots, lasting tradition along with forward thinking vision. Splatsin is the Yucwmenlucwu (caretaker of the land) on behalf of the Secwepemc Nation which stretches from Mica Creek in the north to the Columbia River to the US border, and Monte Lake in the west. Splatsin has three reserves including Salmon River, Enderby and Sicamous. Splatsin honours the Secwepemc culture through practicing the language and enjoying numerous cultural events including celebrations around the importance of the Shuswap River.

Splatsin's 1,000 on and off reserve population are governed by an elected chief and councillors who serve two-year terms.

Building for Tomorrow

Splatsin is building and planning for the future, and nurturing the younger generation plays a vital role in that. The community offers schooling, daycare with extensive programs, a health care centre and a taxing authority.

As part of that future vision, Splatsin opened a new community centre in the fall of 2015. The massive, unique, traditional structure located on Old Vernon Road is visible from Hwy. 97A. The building features a living roof, traditional pictographs, an arbour/fire pit area and an interior design honouring Splatsin elders. The facility boasts a full kitchen, indoor track, change and shower facilities, gymnasium, meetings rooms and much more.

A new boardroom and administrative offices were also recently constructed on Hwy. 97A. The building features a full convenience store, Tim Hortons restaurant, art gallery and gas station. The traditional carvings on the massive timbers depict a rich history.

The Splatsin Development Corporation oversees and is partnered with successful businesses, municipalities and forest companies. Some of these include a forest management company, the service station, Quilakwa RV Park, a construction and environmental services company and the Monashee Community Forest.

The city of Enderby and Splatsin continue to successfully work together and build bridges as the two share a common vision of growth and prosperity for the two communities and region.

Local Wineries Await...

The North Okanagan is the perfect region and climate for producing high quality, award-winning wines.

The warm spring and summers and ideal soil and growing conditions provide some of the tastiest yields of Marechal Foch, Siegerrebe, Ortega and Pinot Noir.

Waterside Winery

Just north of Enderby is Waterside Winery, a new vineyard and winery opened in 2014 by Branko and Debbie Juric. The pair has been cultivating six varieties of grapes on their rural property since 2009 including colder climate grapes such as Ortega, Cabernet Franc, Siegerrebe and others. The results are spectacular, and the winery is open for tastings.

Sunnybrae Winery

Tucked below Bastion Mountain in Tappen, Sunnybrae Winery boasts its own micro-climate perfect for growing the five varieties of cool-climate grapes. Since 2005, Sunnybrae has consistently turned out a selection of white, red and rose wines produced on site including Redneck Red, Marechal Foch, Siegerrebe and others. The craftsman-style winery is open for visiting, tasting and enjoying the spectacular views.
